Let's Pretend

Stay for a while I will give you some tea
Stay just an hour won't be long you will see
I can talk I can play violin
Let's pretend, that you like me

Stay for a while just two hours have passed Stop looking at the time on your watch we can dance we can play the guitar
Let's pretend

Let's pretend, let's pretend that you hear the words I say
Let's pretend I'll pretend that some story will begin
Let's pretend, just before I'll get drunk and you will go
Say you are here with good intentions

Like Being Home

She wakes up every day just thinking about her job
She takes a shower and gets dressed always on a rush 10 hours pass and she hasn't given it a thought
She drives back home, she feels alone, one more day is gone

But today she'll meet someone that will change her day
While buying something she feels him staring at her
Not only this day but he'll change all off her days
She realizes at the end that

All she wants is to feel
Like being home
Like being hugged
Like being home back again
Like being loved

Like being home
Like being hugged
Like being home back again
Like being loved

Counting Backwards

I'm counting backwards
The days to finally
Be there with you
Could this be true?

And while I'm waiting
I grab a pencil and Think about you
With me there too

And all I do is try try try
To write a song of you and I
So you can sing to me at night
To my ear
Don't worry we'll have time time time
I'll fall asleep into your arms
So I can listen to your heart all nights

Changing The weather

It seems that It seems that I'm connected with the changes of the weather
I feel cold I feel sad and It rain rains and still I decide to smile
It seems that It seems that I'm connected with the changes of the weather
I feel cold I feel sad and It rain rains and still I decide to smile

'cause I'm sure that if I decide to smile the sun at last will rise and today I hope I will smile so much that I drive the clouds away
'cause I'm sure that if I decide to smile the sun at last will rise
and today I hope I will smile so much that I drive the clouds away

Millones

A million thoughts come to me at night and I won't
I don't want to wake up at night for a message like Breathing on me
Light in my eyes
Breathing is all I give Breathing just to get some sleep
